Pamplin

Miss Jane Andrew Williams, a student nurse at Lewis Gale Hospital, in Roanoke, spent last week here with her mother, Mrs Edna Williams.

Mrs. Helen Shrose, of Lynchburg, was dinner guest of Miss Flora Belle Williams recently.

Mr. Robert Davis is still confined to his wheel chair here in his home.

Mr. Herbert Richardson, of Oakville, suffered a heart attack Saturday morning and is a patient in the Lynchburg General Hospital. Herbert was formerly of Pamplin.

Mrs. Allen Hamlett and daughter, Mrs. Harold Vasser, of Charlotte Court House, visited Mrs Hamlett's mother, Mrs. Cleave Baldwin, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hamlett, of Phenix, were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hamlett, through the week end.

Visitors over the week end of Mrs. Eunice Baldwin were her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Baldwin, of Appomattox, and Mr and Mrs. Albert Kowalsky and children, of Lynchburg.

Miss Jean Cumby, of Richmond, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Linford Cumby.

Relatives and friends of Mr. Robert Fore were disappointed when he was not released from the Lynchburg General Hospital last Tuesday as had been previously announced. Doctors are doing all they can to prevent another operation. At the present time re ativs have not been informed of a definite time for surgery. The family solicits the prayers of all prayitic people for his recovery. They believe there is great strength in united prayer of Christians of all faiths.

Visitors in the Fore home this past week were Mr. and Mrs. R land Nordstrom, of Prospect, Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Maxwell and Barry, Mrs. Harry Nash and Mrs. Eunice Baldwin, Miss Faye Elder, Misses Vici, Frances and Mary Anne Bates and their brother, Johnny Bates.

Mrs. H. H. Fore and her nephew. Howard Johnson, of Appomattox, visited Mr. Fore in the hospital Wednesday afternoon. Those visiting on Thursday after noon were Mrs. Fore and her brothers, Coley and Clarence Ramsey, a so on Saturday morning Mrs. Wesley Hamlett and daughter, Patricia and Mrs. Fore motored to Lynchburg General Hospital for the same purpose. His condition seemed slightly improved.

Through the week end visitors of Beulah Cobb were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wartrell, of Amelia, Mrs. E. L. Pankey, of Cullen, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Earl Pankey, of Appomattox.

Beulah Cobb's cousin, Mrs. G. A. Harris, of Cullen is in the Farmville Hospital.

Cavalry Troop Will March Here

The Farmville Chamber of Commerce has endorsed a two day Civil War Commemorativi celebration to be held in Farmville on April 7 and April 10, as outlined by the Civil War Centenial committee by Al Smith, chairman.

* * *

The first on April 7, when a troop of cavalry, under command of Dick Dodd, of Portsmouth, and Dr. Sam Kirkpatrick, of Hanover, Pa., and composed of 40 or more "Civil War buffs" will pass through on the way to Appomattox.

* * *

This troop will begin its ride in Petersburg and will follow Lee's retreat route as nearly as possible, both as to time and place. Historiestly, it would bring them to Farmville on April 7, with Confederates p a s s i n g through in the morning a n d "Yankee" troops in the afternoon. The men in the troop will be dressed in appropriate uniforms.

* * *

An all-day program is being planned for Saturday, April 10, depicting the return of the soldiers after the surrender at Appomattox on the 9th.

Roundtable Visitors

Approximately 300 members of Civil War Roundtaxes will participate in the commemoration in Farmville on April 10, under leadership of Mr. and Mrs Wayne Dulaney, of the Washington, D.C. Civil War Roundtable. Tentative plans are to begin the march in the morning showing the Confederates on their way to Appomattox. "Federal troops" will follow after noon and be present for a program to be enacted on the site of the Randolph House, A commemorative tablet will be unveiled on the site.

* * *

A replica of the Randolph House will form the background for the ceremonies, with addresses by prominent speakers. All living descendants of Confederate and Union generals and officers will be invited as special guests.

Display Honors Washington

P-TA To Hear Travel Talks And 4-H Leaders 8 P.M. Tonite

Members and patrons of the Appomattox Elementary P-TA will hear Grey Holland and Mary Yancey Spencer report on trips made overseas during the summer of 1964.

Also on the program will be Miss Peggy Berger and Dan W. Moody, speaking on the 4-H program in this county.

Room visitation and parents' consultation with teachers will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the speakers at 8.

Grey Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivey Holland, was a Lions Club exchange student and visited a family in Aalborg, Denmark during the summer. Mary Yancey Spencer, daughter of Mrs. H. Y. Spencer and the late H. Y. Spencer, traveled to Europe, also, along with a group of other students from Seven Hills School.

In announcing the appearance of the 4- HAdult leaders in the county, M. G. Stimpson, P-TA president said that the P-TA wishes to express appreciation to Mr. Moody for the fine work he has done in this county. Mr. Moody has announced his resignation effective March 1 to begin similar work in Caroline county.

Drive Set For Heart Sunday

The month - long 1965 Heart Fund drive will reach a high point this week end on Heart Sunday, February 21, when district captains will head an army of local volunteers in a house-to-house canvass of Appomattox county, according to Ivey Holland, Heart chairman for the Appomattox Heart Association's annual campaign.

Each captain will be in charge of a group of volunteers covering a specific area in the community and will be responsible for directing volunteer collectors, equipping them with materials, and accounting for returned contributions.

The Heart Sunday canvass in Appomattox will be one of more than 6,300 being conducted by over 1,750,000 volunteers at approximately the same time throughout the nation.

Holland praised the volunteer workers "who are giving their time to make the Heart Fund campaign possible and who are supporting the fight against our number one public health problem, diseases of the heart and blood vessels.'

Miss Appomattox Pageant April 3

Patron Tickets Will Provide College Scholarships

Mrs. Aelese Cobb, Chairman of the Program Committee reports that 1 e t t e r s were mailed last week to many citizens of the county asking them to be patrons of the Pageant. However, patron tickets are not limited to those receiving these letters. For the sum of $5.00 or more a person is entitled to two patron tickets in a reserved section of the auditorium. The money from the sale of patron tickets will be used to award one or more scholarships to the contestants of the night of the Pageant. Any one interested in becoming a patron should contact Mrs. Aelese Cobb, of Route 1, Pamplin, on or before March 15.

General admission tickets are now on sale for $1.00 each. These can be secured from an member of the Junior Woman's Club.

Publicity pictures of the contestants will be taken on Thursday night, February 18th. The girls will be wearing centennial gowns in keeping with the Pageant theme.

Homemakers May Win $1,500

Nancy McAden, of Appomattox High School, as winner of the 1965 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow award, is in contention for scholarship grants ranging from $500 to $5,000.

Test papers of all school winners in the state are being judged competitively. From this the State Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named, with a first place win of $1,500 scholarship from General Mills.

The national winner will be named from winners in 49 other states and the District of Columbia.

Advance Payments Offered Under 1965 Feed Grain Program

Advance payments again this year are available to growers signing up to participate in the feed grain program J. A. Martin, c h a i r m a n, Appomattox County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today. Similar payments were available under the 194 program.

According to the chairman, the advance peyment will represent one-half of the estimated total diversion payment to be earned under the 1965 program. The rest of the diversion payment and all of the price-suppor payment earned under the program will be made next fall.

The 1965 feed grain program again covers corn, barley, and grain sorghum. Participants in the program may qualify for a payment for diversion of eligible cropland to approved conserving uses, and also for a price-support payment on the normal production of the 1965 feed grain acreage. They will also be eligible for price-support loans on their entire production from the feed grain acreage.

Each farm has a total feed grain base, representing the combined acreage of the three feed grains grown on the farm. A producer may divert one or more of the feed grains, and his diversion payment will be based on the per-acre rate which applies to the grain diverted. Minimum diversion under the program is 20 percent of the total feed grain base; maximum diversion is 50 percent of the base or 25 acres if this is more.

While participation in the 1965 feed grain program is voluntary Mr. Martin pointed out, the price support payments and loans as well as the diversion payments, will be available only to growers who sign up and carry out the program's provisions.

Signup for the program started February 8 and will continue through March 26.

Dark Tobacco Crop Tops In Prices, Pool Receipts

William F. Young, Jr., assistant supervisor of science, State Department of Education works with several of the 27 teachers enrolled in the science workshop which was held in the county February 2-11. The workshop was a part of the county's program of in service education for teachers.

School Board To Offer Additional Training

Seventy-Five Complete Courses In Reading–English–Math–Typing

During the school year teachers and other adults have been making a special effort in self improvement by attending classes at night. These classes are in the form of in-service training courses for teachers and others who may be interested, and adult education courses at the past high school level.

Mrs. Dorothy Fallconer has completed the teaching of a course entitled "Teaching of Reading in the Elementary School. Twenty teachers and teacher substitutes were enrolled in this course. More recently Mr. William F. Young, Assistant Supervisor of Science, State Department of Education, conducted a workshop in the teaching of science. The course dealt with a study of wave motion and energy systems. Twenty seven teachers and teacher substitutes were enrolled in this course.

In the field of adult education, courses in Beginning Typing and Modern Mathematics have been offered to some thirty-five persons at Appomattox High School and Carver-Price High School.

Plans are now being made for future courses for the coming school year. Any persons interested in participating in the post high school courses or courses at college level are urged to notify the school board office of this interest.

Notice To Parents

If your child begins school in September 1965, please send his or her name, birth date, and parent's name and address to the principal of the school he or she will attend. A child cannot attend school unless he or she has attained the age of six on or before October 1, 1965.

Cement Use On Farm Subject For Friday Program Here

Arrangements have been completed by Jim Smith, county agent for an open meeting Friday, the 19th evening, to hear a well-informed speaker discuss "The Use of Concrete On The Farm". The color-slide illustrated program will be held in the Court House at 7:30 p.m.

The speaker, Mr. Hugh R. Roberts, of Richmond, si district farm engineer for the Portland Cement Association in Virginia and North Carolina who has 38 years experience in farm concrete construction. He will discuss what good concrete is and how ready-mixed concrete should be ordered, placed, finished and cured to assure best results.

Farmers, contractors who use concrete, ready - mixed concrete producers, and anyone else who buys, sells, users or finances concrete for improvements, are invited to this informative "Short course'.

Mr. Robert's program will include the latest methods in paveways and floors. He will also describe the newer methods of concrete "tilt-up" construction for bunker and trench-type silos.

"Everyone wants to get the most for his money", commented Mr. Roberts, "so the owner, builder and supplier should all understand the basic requirements of concrete as a material and the proper way to use it. With this knowledge he can improve the usefulness and extend the life of concrete improvement.

He pointed out that ready-mix concrete is now available eto all farmers, and in most cases is delivered directly into construction forms thereby saving much hard labor. He also called attention to the fact that concrete should be "placed" in the forms, not "poured", since concrete should never be used in a "soupy" consistency. When asked "Why?", Mr. Roberts answered that this is only one of many questions to be answered at the meeting.

Set At $42.98 Floor Average Set At $42,98

The 1964 crop of Virginia dark-fired tobacco rewrote the record books, and for growers who made money this time, the consensus is that with the same, or improved growing and marketing efforts it can be done again in 1965.

Besides an all-time high general floor average of $42.98 for the season for all Virginia markets, only 2.9 per cent of the 1964 crop went into government pool stocks. The former record is the 3.3 per cent pooled for the 1960-61 season.

At Farmville, the leading Virginia m a r k e t this year by 700,000-plus pounds, the dark-fired average closed out for the season at the all-time high of $43.73.

Top Poundage

At Farm..ille's three warehouses combined, growers sold 4,461,718 pounds, all but 282,414 pounds of which was dark-fired leaf. Grower income there totaled $1,930,160.20 for the season. This was made up of $1,936,315.87 for dark-fired sales, plus $93,850.33 for sun-cured offerings.

The Tobacco and U. S. Departments of Agriculture report total sales of dark-fired Type 21 Virginia leaf amounted to 9,349,459 pounds, compared to 6,441,379 a year ago. The 1963 crop's average, too, was far behind this year's, 4,485,357.

Paramount in comments about the just-ended season in the suggestion that growers use every available means to produce another dollar, through increased quality and color.

Early Harvest

"Early curing which would result in early harvest and warm weather for curing should improve good color. I don't believe we can allow our tobacco to get too ripe if we expect to produce Austrian and cutting tobaccos now so much in demand. Growers who are doing a good job at present should not try to change their method of operation."

In his February 15 column, Roy Bass, Jr., marketing agent for the Virginia Department of Agriculture writes, "History may record the 1964 crop as the one that saved the Virginia dark-fired tobacco industry. Buy the time this crop came to market, virtually all desirable export grades of this type of tobacco had been moved to the manufacturers. If this crop had not been usable by those manufacturers who use this type of tobacco in their blends, a shortage would have developed and blend changes to reduce the proportion of Virginia dark - fired would have been necessary.

"Efforts in 1965 should be made to assure the buyers that they can depend on Virginia growers for their supplies of good dark-fired leaf."

Buyer's Caution

J. W. Dunnington, president of Dunnington-Beach Tobacco Co., Inc., states, "Demand for all grades was high this year, with the greatest demand for cutter and Austrian cigar type tobacco. To duplicate this again, growers must keep their quality high and grade and market their tobacco to the very best advantage. If I can give any advice, it would be that our growers should class their leaf even better. It also will be to their advantage to plant and raise their full allotment."

Warehouseman Joel Watkins, Jr., described the past auction season here as "the most active market I can remember." He, too, emphasized careful market preparation. "The farmers help themselves this year by growing a crop with desirable quality for the trade.

"Farmville's active market won us some new, good friends
